

THE REPORT TO BE CONTESTED

DISAPPOINTED CITIES WILL MAKE DETERMINED
STRUGGLE

FOR RESERVE BANK

Federal Board is the Only Body
Which May Legally Review
The Subject

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, April 3.—That there was every indication here tonight that the announcement of the reserve districts and cities by the reserve bank organization committee had given the signal for a determined struggle upon the part of several cities which were disappointed, to overturn the committee on the decision and bring about a redistribution of the country, or at least a change in the reserve cities named.

Under the law the decision of the organization committee is not subject to review except by the Federal reserve board. This board, probably will not be named by President Wilson for several weeks, but in the meantime it is believed that those disappointed with the committee's announcement will bend every effort toward paying the way for the changes. It was pointed out tonight that both Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Comptroller of the Currency Williams, or ex-officio members of the reserve board, can hardly be counted upon to reverse themselves. The president has given no indication as to who the other five members will be.

Plan Criticized.
The committee's plan was criticized in congress today, and there were reports of keen disappointment from several cities which were in the race for reserve banks, and which failed to secure them. Three members of the senate banking and currency committee, two republicans and a democrat, found fault with the plan. Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, who opposed the law vigorously for many months, but who finally voted for it, pointed out that one bank was located in Georgia, the home state of Mr. McAdoo, one in Virginia, the home state of Mr. Williams, and two in Missouri, the home state of Secretary Houston, the third member of the committee. He questioned the propriety of these selections, and made other criticisms of the committee's actions.

Senator Burton disapproved the inclusion of Pittsburg, in the district of which Cleveland is the reserve center, and declared that it would be impossible to make trade turn westward from Pittsburg to that city. Senator Mitchell pointed out the fact that Omaha had been included in the Kansas City district, instead of the Chicago district, and said trade did not flow that way.

No Justification.
Defenders of the committee said tonight that there was no justification for the charge that it was influenced by any consideration other than the trend of trade, and the banking advantages of the cities chosen.

In referring to the choice of Richmond, it was said that although comment was expected because of the fact that the city is the home of Mr. Williams, the committee was unanimous and Richmond would have been named over Baltimore and Washington if he had not been a member.

So far, no mention has been made of any fight against the committee have been started here and there is practically no way for such a fight to be undertaken except through the reserve board. It was suggested tonight, however, that members of congress might undertake to provide banks for their districts by having the number of authorized reserve cities increased.

Although various steps still must be taken before the new Federal reserve banking system begins operation, treasury officials expected today that twelve regional reserve banks would open for business within three months and that the revolutionary change in the nation's finances would be established without any serious interruption of the currency.

Official Certification.
The first work today was official certification in Comptroller of the Currency Williams of the selections, and Mr. Williams began notifying 1,548 national and state banks which have applied for membership. It was the general impression that member banks in the twelve districts would immediately begin preparation for the establishment of their reserve banks. Every bank must begin payment of a subscription of six per cent of its capital and surplus to the reserve bank within thirty days after notification.

The next step will be the selection of boards of directors for the reserve banks. There will be nine directors for each Federal reserve bank, and six service members in each district.

Although the Federal reserve board in to choose three directors in each district, the organization committee may perfect the organization of a reserve bank for all practical purposes before the reserve board is appointed, and it is believed that the committee will exercise its authority to launch the system as soon as possible.

In the opinion of officials here, the transfer of money from member banks to the reserve banks will be a quiet business. The new system is a year to begin for the payment of one half of their total subscriptions, and it was believed that this step would prove satisfactory.

As sure as ever God puts his oil into the furnace, so will he in the process of this system.

IF--

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you.

If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;

If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,

Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;

If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;

If you can hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,

Or watch the things you gave your life to broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your
Winning and losing—
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,

And lose and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;

If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you

Except the will which says to them:
"Hold on."

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch,

If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;

If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run—
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

—Rudyard Kipling.

BLEASE WRITES TO HIS FRIENDS

ARE CHARGED BY GOVERNOR
TO CAPTURE

SENT OUT MESSAGE

Urges All the Faithful to Attend
Club Meetings and Elect Blease
Men to County Conventions

Columbia, April 3.—It is said that about fifteen hundred of the following letters were mailed to the faithful throughout the State by Governor Blease:

"Columbia, S. C., April 1914.
"Dear Friend—I presume it is useless to tell you that we must, if possible, control the coming May convention, and we cannot do it by sitting down at home and talking about it. Therefore, I wish to urge upon you the necessity of getting all our friends to attend their club meetings, which will be held on the fourth Saturday in April, for the purpose of reorganization. If our friends stay at home and let our opponents control the club meetings, our opponents will elect the delegates to the county conventions, which will give them control of the county conventions, controlled by them, will elect delegates to the state convention, giving them control of the state convention, and I am satisfied that if they get control of the state convention, they are going to include in the primary rules a provision that no man shall vote in the democratic primary unless he has a county and state registration certificate.

"This fight has been made in the general assembly recently, and the only reason that the measure did not become law was because all the members of the general assembly knew that I would veto it, and that I had friends enough to veto its passage and they were afraid of odium that would be cast upon them, and afraid that it would be said that to put such a law upon the people and that only by the veto power was it kept off the House, which was against us, was foolish enough to go on record as favoring such a measure, anyway.

"Now, I cannot make this fight alone and I think it will be admitted that I have done my part. My friends must be up and doing and help themselves, and I beg you to get our friends to the club meetings; to talk to our friends who belong to other clubs; talk all around, and get busy and do something, for now is the time.

"Do not wait until we are defeated, and then say, 'Oh, I forgot to say or I could have done so and so.'

"Remember, this is no personal fight of mine; it is the people's fight; it is your fight.

"The defeat of any man would be of small consequence, but the capturing of the conventions by the other crowd will be of small matter.

"If I could get the newspapers to publish this letter, it would save me some trouble and expense; but you know they will not publish anything from me unless they think it will injure me. Therefore, I have to do the best I can to reach you, and through you, others of our friends.

"Very respectfully,
"C. L. Blease.

Columbia, April 2.—C. P. Sims of the Spartanburg Bar was today disbarred from further practice of his profession in this state. The action was taken by the supreme court and held him out of various chambers of unethical conduct.

The supreme court several weeks ago called Mr. Sims to answer in person the charges preferred against him by S. G. Finney and other members of the Spartanburg bar.

Chief Justice Eugene B. Gary wrote the disbarring decision, and Associate Justices D. H. Eddick, H. C. Watts, T. E. Fraser and G. W. Gage concurred. The opinion says in part:

"The foregoing findings of fact show that C. P. Sims, Esq., is unfit to practice law as an attorney. The court, however, is of the opinion that the respondent should be allowed the opportunity to reform and be readmitted upon proof that he has become duly qualified in every respect to practice law as an attorney."

The paragraph which indicates the findings of the supreme court reads:

"It is therefore the judgment of this court that C. P. Sims be indefinitely suspended and forbidden to exercise the rights and duties of an attorney in the courts of this state, with the privilege, however, to move before this court, after the expiration of one year, for readmission, and at that time to be readmitted, if he has become duly qualified in every respect to practice law as an attorney, at law."

Disbarment is rare. One other case is on record, that of John T. Duncan, who was disbarred in 1908.

Chance is but the pseudonym of God for those particular cases which He does not choose to subscribe openly with his own hand.—Coleridge.
